"All too many of us, however, have hidden the Gospel of Life under the bushel basket of political expediency. How scandalous it is to see the evidence of Catholic vote supporting those who deny the Gospel of Life. It is easy to criticize Catholic elected representatives who have rejected life. Do we not need to be even more concerned with the far greater number of Bernard Cardinal Law Jan. 21, 1996 Catholic voters who fail to challenge these politicians?"

WANT TO CHALLENGE PLANNED PARENTHOOD?

Planned Parenthood of Nassau County's (PPNC) 1999 Financial Report states that they presented "Comprehensive sexuality education workshops in 60% of all Nassau County school districts. PPNC also expanded its "model education program", Teen Advocate Project (T.A.P.) by providing a Teen Info Line to provide confidential information to teens. PPNC also created community partnerships thereby enabling PPNC to co-sponsor a free workshop series with Syosset and Levittown Borders Book Stores.

Many of their "educational services" are supported by government grants. The PPNC Financial Statement of 1999 indicates that they received $1,336,706 in government grants. This financial support from government sources is financed by the taxpayer and represents 32% of their total revenue.

Call, or write your elected officials to protest the use of your tax dollars to subsidize PP's failed safer-sex agenda. STD's continue to rise and teen pregnancy among sexually active teens continues to rise. (N.Y. Times 3-9-98 and 10-27-99) Inform Borders Book stores that you will not frequent their shops. Lastly, become informed as to whether or not PPNC is presenting workshops in your school district.

Ask your school administrators why they are allowing PP, an organization which has consistently opposed parental consent and parental notification when a minor seeks an abortion, and when a minor seeks contraceptive, or treatment of an STD. Why are they permitting PP continued and easy access to students. Is this an example of responsible education and parental involvement. - We think not.

THE NETHERI ANDS AND U.S.A.—On 11/28/00 in the lower Dutch parliament by a vote of 104-40 doctor assisted suicide was declared legal. A vote in the upper house is expected in 2001 and is expected to pass. The Netherlands will then be the first country in the world to legalize physician assisted suicide. Other countries that tolerate euthanasia but have not made it legal are Switzerland, Belgain and Columbia. In the U.S. Oregon has legalized doctor assisted suicide while a bill proposing it in Maine failed on 11/7/00 by a vote of 330,671 to 313,303.

NEW YORK STATE

January LIFE NEWS asked that you write to Gov. Pataki objecting to the use of tax money to fund the destruction of human life. Now is the time to write to members of the Senate and Assembly. Most New Yorkers are unaware that no federal Medicaid funds are used in N.Y.S. for abortions. The Hyde Amendment prevents federal Medicaid from funding abortions except in cases of rape, incest or endangerment to the mother's life. N.Y.S. chooses not to seek federal reimbursement and chooses instead to provide abortionon-demand. As N.Y.S. taxpayers we are thus forced to finance 100 percent of Medicaid abortions (50% paid with State dollars and 50% paid with local community money). Gov. Pataki and his State Department of Health indicated they intend to use Medicaid monies to fund the RU-486 chemical in addition to funding surgical abortions. What a nightmare!

ACTION: Letterwriting--please contact both your:

NYS Senator and NYS Assembly Member

Sample letter: Dear.....

When participating in 2001 budget negotiations and voting be aware that thousands of taxpayers in our state strongly object the use of their tax dollars to fund the destruction of human life by abortion whether surgical or chemical (as the RU-486). Under N.Y.S. Social Service Law 365A, only medically necessary abortions qualify for Medicaid reimbursement. Yet, the recent statistics released by N.Y.S.Dept. of Health show that 39% (50,457) abortions were paid for by taxpayer (Medicaid) dollars. Our N.Y.S. reimbursement policy is obviously flawed. This flagrant disregard of the law should not continue. Also, please consider the fact that the vast majority of states restrict state funding. Why does N.Y.S. continue to fund abortion? Please reply.

HEALTH & SCIENCE REPORT

STEM CELL RESEARCH AND TESTIMONY

In the Michael Fund Newsletter, Spring 2000, Randy Engel, Exec. Dir., writes about the lecture Dr. Jerome Lejeune gave at the American Society of Human Genetics award presentation when he received the William Allan Memorial Award for accomplishments in human cytogenetics. To quote Randy Engel, "In his award lecture titled 'On the Nature of Man', Dr. Lejeune reaffirmed in genetic terms the universal belief that 'all men are brothers' for they share the common karyotype of the human species. Unfortunately, not everyone accepts this truth, Dr. Lejeune lamented, and in a truly prophetic fashion he went on to describe the creation of a futuristic special Institution for Research and Applied Eugenics called the National Institute of Death whose board of appointed advisors would: Decree on undesirable genes or chromosomes, deliver unhappy parents from unwanted pregnancies, discard embryos not fitting standard requirements, dispose of newborns not reaching minimal specifications of normalcy and generally, destroy, delete, or decry any human condition voted against by the above National Institute of Death." This lecture by Dr. Lejeune took place on Oct. 3, 1969. Are we living that prophecy?

Randy Engel went on to add to Dr. Lejeune's Death Policies: "Subject normal 'excess' human embryos and aborted babies to lethal experimentation and establish their use as a federal reservoir for human tissue, cells, and organs as approved by the National Institute of Death's Office of Science Policy Working Group of the Advisory Committee to the Director on the Use of Human Pluripotent Stem Cells and Human Embryo Research—the latest anti-life stacked committee emanating from the U.S. Public Health Service and its National Institutes of Health."

In December 1999, the National Institutes of Health called for public input on "Draft Guidelines on Pluripotent Stem Cell Research." They deliberately did not reveal to the public that obtaining these pluripotent stem cells involves lethal experimentation on the human embryos and fetuses from which they are derived. However, they did make sure that people would hear about the alleged benefits to those suffering from a wide variety of diseases that this research could possibly treat or cure. They used the desire of those afflicted to promote the sacrificing of the life of others, namely the human embryo and aborted babies.

The call for public comment leads to one of the testimonies that was to be given before the hearings on this subject, which we were very privileged to obtain. You have all heard of or seen Police Officer Steven McDonald on television or at a charitable function. Officer McDonald is pro-life and has participated in many functions to fund Momma's House. On July 12, 1986, Officer McDonald was shot in the neck and head while frisking a gang member in Central Park. He spent almost a year in the hospital and is now wheelchair-bound, but does public speaking for good causes even though it causes him great physical suffering. He was invited to testify at the hearings on stem cell research because of his condition, but was blocked by rescheduling that made it impossible for him to participate. The following draft was to be his testimony. We are sure you will understand why he was blocked after you read what he was to say. Hollywood celebrities, whose desire for a cure, under any circumstances, encouraging your sympathy, and supporting the researchers' cause, were welcomed. Officer McDonald's draft text is as follows:

On December 28, 1975, I took my first oath to defend the Constitution of the United States as a member of the U.S. Navy. Then again, on July 16, 1984, as a new member of the New York City Police Department, I took that oath again.

But my first allegiance is always to God our Creator. As a Catholic Christian American I have always tried to live a good and holy life, but have too often fallen short.

I was invited to give testimony today because I am suffering from a disability, which someday may be treatable because of embryonic stem cell research. How badly do I want to reverse my disability of being quadriplegic, paralyzed from the neck down and ventilator dependent? In order to feel as I do, please allow me to share a bit of my daily life with you.

Sometimes a nightmare in which I suffocate because of mechanical failures, interrupts my sleep. Later on, the opening of my eyes in the morning is usually occasioned by spasms in my arms and legs which contort my body with pain. When I realize I can't fall asleep again I then surrender my body to my caregivers, who do for me what all our mothers did for us throughout infancy. Once awake, I am aware of my body only because the pins and needles discomfort, which is all that remains of my sense of feeling, overwhelms me, as it has for the 14 years since I was shot in the line of duty as a New York City Police Officer.

As a cruel twist of nature, the sensations from internal organs are preserved in many spinal cord injuries, such as mine. Therefore, I feel all the pain throughout my digestive and urinary tract occasioned by the unnatural way they are now managed.

Yet, sometimes what I do not feel is even more painful for myself, my wife of 15 years, Patti-Ann, and our 13-year-old son, Conor. My inability to hold, hug and play with, as a husband or father is devastating for each of us.

I have just provided you with a brief glimpse into my disability—but words are not able to convey the true depth of suffering with which I and others live.

In support of the recent changes in the National Institute of Health guidelines for research involving human embryo destruction, the President of the United States declared "We cannot walk away from the potential...to help people literally get up and walk." From my perspective, I cannot walk away from the responsibility to protect the human life being threatened in order to help myself or anyone else.

Someday, our government may determine that people in my condition may serve others best by no longer existing.

The human life in unwanted embryos, outside of the uterus is now thought to best serve others by no longer existing.

My responsibilities as a police officer include defense of those who cannot defend themselves.

I do not need to limit my argument to the teachings of my Church, which is responsible for the spiritual formation of 50 million Catholic Americans and one billion Catholics worldwide. I can call on the lessons of the 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries, when whole communities of people have been sacrificed in the name of progress for a few.

Worse yet, today we see the temptation to place monetary profit above the protection of human life—in the tire industry and, with this bill, in the pharmaceutical companies.

In conclusion, I have decided I will not accept any personal benefit derived solely from the destruction of life in human embryos. I am not basing this decision on principles alone, but on an awe-filled respect for nature and our Creator, who alone will judge our decisions.

To paraphrase lawyer and Saint Thomas Moore at his trial in response to his betrayer, "It profits a man nothing to give his soul for the whole world"—but for embryonic research?

Media reports on current research with stem cells makes it sound as though the cure for diseases is imminent with the use of pluripotent stem cells. After researching this subject and speaking to many doctors, this avenue is many years away. A welcome note is that recent advances have been made with the use of the patient's own stem cells. This eliminates the rejection problem in using foreign implants and is free of ethical objections.

In conclusion, we join with Officer McDonald and the Michael Fund's statement, "The International Foundation for Genetic Research is intensely aware of the desire of those afflicted with serious, often fatal diseases and their families to find a cure or treatment to alleviate their suffering. But sacrificing the life of the least of our kin—the human embryo—is not the answer.

The state of the subject to the agent hemily polition are Conseiver and Legislan ever to condition asgland start and a January 3, 2001

Dear Legislator:

Members of the Long Island Coalition for Life are here today at the opening of the legislative session to once more remind one and all of the terrible toll abortion-on-demand is taking on our state and country. Respect for human life begins with the protection of the most innocent and defenseless among us: babies in their mothers' wombs. Having for nearly thirty years denied that protection, is it any wonder that all human life is cheapened, that infanticide and euthanasia are now being openly discussed and advocated by the "intelligentsia"?

There truly is a "slippery slope" and we are sliding down it at accelerating speed. One would do well to remember history, that the Nazi's started with the destruction of "lives unworth living" and proceeded from there. It is not too late to wake up and see that we are plummeting in the same direction.

Some sobering statistics to ponder from the New York State Health Department's 1998 abortion data:

134,687 abortions were reported;

a completed notificate to the Long Educed Challang for Life.

2001. Placed the Home fits found as accord finish you.

- 50,457, or 39%, were paid for with 23 million New York Medicaid dollars;
- 60% were performed on women who had at least one prior abortion;
- 4,504 were performed on women who had 5 or more previous abortions;
- Bronx County's abortions outnumbered live births by a ratio of 1102:1000.

Surveys have repeatedly shown that Americans, while unwilling to ban abortion, are preponderantly against the use of taxpayer money to fund abortions and oppose the use of abortion as birth control. It doesn't take much thought to deduce from the above statistics that abortion practice in New York is contrary to what the public-taxpayers and voters-would allow if they had a say.

Regarding Medicaid funding of abortion, which is supposed to be used only when "medically necessary" but which is in reality most often used for convenience reasons, a recent issue of the New York State Pro-Life Reporter says it best: "New York may call itself 'PRO-CHOICE,' but taxpayers currently have NO CHOICE. Taxpayers in our state should not be compelled to fund the destruction of human life, whether by surgery or drugs, through a program intended to prevent illness and heal those who are hurting."

Please make a start to reverse the deadly slide we are in by voting to remove the funding of surgical and chemical abortion from the Medicaid budget. Abortion is not health care.

Sincerely for Life,

Jerome B. Higgins, D.V.M. verklerkog S. C.C. 2009 schille. We wish to present thems before the treak to

Chairman

STOP MEDICAID ABORTIONS

Whereas, over $23 million of Medicaid funds are spent annually to kill over 50,000 preborn babies in New York State; and whereas, NYS law requires that Medicaid funded abortions be "medically necessary" and nearly 90% are not; and whereas, there is no federal requirement that states pay for abortion with Medicaid funds and NY is one of only 14 states that do; and whereas, NY is ineligible for federal matching funds so 100% of the cost of Medicaid funded abortions is borne by NY taxpayers; therefore

We the undersigned New York taxpayers hereby petition our Governor and Legislators to eliminate Medicaid funding of abortion from all future New York State budgets

A YOUTH'S PERSPECTIVE

Our nation is being continuously plagued by a multitude of evils. One of the most grievous evils we have to deal with is abortion. The news media, and pro-abortion groups such as Planned Parenthood, are unceasingly perpetrating lies about abortion-it's acceptable, it's not really a person in the womb, and so forth. Those who don't know any better are taken in.

The most susceptible to these untruths is today's eighteen and under generation. I myself belong to this group, the same group on whose backs the brunt of the pro-life battle will soon land. The amount of apathy I see in my peers is frightening and gives me a troubling view of the future. In my own high school, I hear teenage girls, ranging from 15 to 18, talking with their friends about abortions they've had in the past, sometimes more than one. Apparently, none of them seem to express any remorse or regret.

On the positive side, many young adults are actively involved-participating in pro-life activities that I would also encourage others to do. Demonstrations at abortion mills, and at the annual March for Life in Washington D.C., have a tremendous impact not only on the participants but also on those who observe the scene. Lack of participation holds back the pro-life movement, and allows abortion to continue as it has today. One cannot stress enough the importance of pro-life involvement.

On the negative side, there is a large number of youth being hooked in by the pro-abortion side. The other side has more money, media support, and "impeccable" logic. When one looks at all that is stacked against him, he tends to become discouraged. "Why bother? Whatever I do won't make a difference. It's useless to go against such odds," comes the reply. But how else can abortion cease to exist if all you do is sit around wishing it did not exist? You have a voice, don't be afraid to use it as I have. Life News will provide you with more than enough things to do that will make a difference.

The longer you wait, the more lives will be lost.

CARE: Can't The Starving Just Have The Food Instead? The power structure of population control has become massive and far-flung. The "non-governmental Foundation money has paved the way. organizations"-government-supported, "private" only in that they answer to no electorate, many of them created by government agencies - press the agenda m Congress and at the United Nations. They prod and plead, immerse Congress, the media, and the public in statistics at politically strategic moments. One such active of these private groups is CARE. From an organization that distributed food packages to starving Europeans after World War II, CARE has evolved into a worldwide agency that provides...you guessed it - "access to family planning" as one of its "major programs". It now sees food distribution as merely a "short-term response" to war, genocide, and mass migration. Naturally, the agency feels obliged to address these long-term problems and therefore provides birth control services to 1.2 million people in 63 countries annually. This policy of saying and doing what is politically correct in Washington has paid off handsomely for CARE: it receives more than $200 million a year from the U.S. government and $12 million from the United Nations. PRO LIFE ANSWERS

PRO CHOICE ARGUMENTS

Argument: "Every person has the right to choose. It would be unfair to restrict a woman's choice by prohibiting abortion."

Answer: "Freedom to choose' is too vague for meaningful discussion; we must always ask, "Freedom to choose what?" It is absurd to defend a specific choice merely on the basis that it is a choice. "The right to choose" is a magic slogan that seems to make all choices equally legitimate. All of us are in favor of free choice when it comes to where people live, what kind of car they drive, and a thousand matters of personal preference that harm no one else. But most of us are decidedly not prochoice when it comes to murder, rape, kidnapping, armed robbery, and child abuse. When we oppose the 'right to choose' rape or child abuse we aren't opposing a 'right' we're opposing a wrong. To be prochoice about someone's right to kill is to be anti-choice about someone else's right to live. Whenever we hear the term prochoice, we must ask, "Do you think people should have the right to choose to kill innocent children if that's what they want to do?" ~Randy Alcorn
